Budget Storage facilities donate personal hygiene products for Pasteur Elementary families

Thanks to all the help received from Budget Storage customers and friends, Pasteur Elementary in Detroit recently received hundreds of personal-care products for their students and families.

L to R: Marcy Feldman, Pasteur principal Sharon Lawson and Budget Storage's own Sid Moss with some of the donated products.

Located at 19811 Stoepel Street, Pasteur Elementary is unique because it has a very strong and involved Alumni Association, committed to helping the current student body. The alumni provide scholarships, tutoring, mentoring, food for the holidays, and a host of additional support. Some items that are always needed are donations of hygiene and personal-care products for the children and their families.

Sid Moss of the Budget Storage Group is one of those involved Alumni Association members. Understanding the need, he organized a personal-care product drive at the Budget Storage facilities. To make it fun and competitive, the facility that took in the most donations were awarded with a pizza party. Clarkston Budget Storage in Clarkston and America's Budget Storage in Canton tied for the honor and each received a party.

"We are so grateful for the donations we received," said Marcy Feldman, Pasteur Elementary Alumni Association President. "Our students and their families are always in need of these products and any help we can get is greatly appreciated," she added.

During the drive, the Budget Storage facilities set out collection boxes in their offices. Each time a customer brought in a donation, they were eligible to fill out a donation form. Once the drive was over, each facility drew one winner to receive a $100 Visa gift card. All donated products were unopened and in their original containers. Acceptable personal hygiene products included soap, shampoo, conditioner, body wash, hand soap, mouthwash, deodorant, combs, brushes and body lotion.
